DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The terms S and D are not sufficiently described. The terms need to be described as related to the carrier and its solvated or dispersed state.
3. Claims 9-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The term PCC is not sufficiently described. It is suggested by the Examiner that "(PCC)" be added after "polymerizable crystallizable compound" in claim 1 or "(polymerizable crystallizable compound)" be added after PCC in claim 9.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Baker (6,649,316) in view of Tan (5,264,315) and Japan 05-119529. Baker et al teaches a toner for a developer having an organosol in which an amphipathic copolymers and incorporated polymerizable crystallizable compounds are employed (examples). This is a core-shell type polymer binder for the toner. Tan et al teaches the core-shell polymer binder as an oil phase and an aqueous phase and by interfacial polymerization can have a binder with different solubility along the polymeric structure. Japan 05-119529 teaches the grafted resin as the binder for a colorant in a toner composition. The grafted resin is formed by emulsion polymerization with the water-insoluble org. solvent removed. It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicants' invention with a reasonable expectation of success to use the binders of Japan 05-119529 and Tan as the binder in the toner composition as taught in Baker et al with the physical characteristics that are inherent in the polymers that differ along the polymeric backbone of the binders.

Double Patenting

5. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

6. Claims 1-24 provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-53 of compending Application No. 10/612,243. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because similar toners are used for the same intended purpose of improved particle size, shape, charge rate, and charging characteristics.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
